Saturday Night.

Capt. Sol Fritz There With Gubernatorial Candidate Some One to Assist Him.

Five cars filled with negroes came over the L. & N. road Saturday night. Many of them got off at different stations along the road. Fritz, who apprehended trouble, had telephoned policeman Tilford to got Guthrie and return with him to quell any disturbance that might come up, and well he did. Jesse Bailey and another negro had planned between them to "take the train" after it pulled out of Guthrie. After running some distance Bailey began shring his pistol as a prelude to the music that was to follow. The other negro was on a seat with his pistol in hand to play his part. Neither of them dreamed that officers were near. As soon as Bailey began shorting the officers rushed on him and placed him under arread that the train after the properties and carried him to Elkton, where he was tried Monday and fined $25 for his little fun. He was unable to pay it and was put in jail. The officers were not able to make out a case against the other negro and he was released, as his weapon was not concealed.

Tuesday night the house was crowded to hear Prof. Bell's lecture.
His subject was, "Preparation and Service." His hearers were delighted and received many useful suggestions. Tonight the graduating exercises of the city public schools will take place. There are 21 graduates. Superintendent W. E. Gray has given every effort toward making the sessions a source of usefulness to the teachers of the county.

CAR LOADS OF NEGROES. HEARD BY 400 PEOPLE.

Makes Another Speech at Pembroke at Night.

Gen. Hays is a good speaker and a good many in the audience were evidently in sympathy with what he said. At times his remarks were applauded. The effect of the speech, however, was disappointing to his supporters. A strong effort was made to make the occasion a big rally, but the crowd was only a fair sized one and many who attended were not for Gen. Hays. It is evident, however that he will have a good following in this county. The small crowd is to be attributed to the lack of interest at this early stage of the campaign, and not to any unwillingness to hear the distinguished gentleman speak.

REIGN OF NEGRO LUST.

This time it is Wayne county, Ky. that is stirred with racial excitement vover the attempt of a negro named Perry Copenhaven to assault a white girl, Miss Fairchild. 14 years old, near Monticello. The negro is under arrest and has been taken to Somerset to escape a mob bent on applying to him the unwritten law. This makes five of these outrages in Kentucky in as many weeks and in what Southern States the situation. Kentucky in as many weeks and to ther Southern States the situation is still worse. Only two days ago a 5-year-old child was assaulted by a negro at Bertrand, Mo. In hardly a Southern state from Missouri to South Carolina has there been freedom from these horrid crimes during the present year and the number in the aggregate is larger than for years. There seems to be an epidemic of lustful violence, endangering the safety of the women of the South wherever negroes are found. A great negro convention is now in session in Atlanta, presided over by the ablest of all negroes, and these plain words are addressed to it in an editorial in the Atlanta Georgian, edited by John Temple Graves:

"When Becker Washington with ther Southern States the situation

Old Ysocomico Church.

The two hundredth anniversary of the old Yeocomico church in Virginia has just been celebrated. The mother of George Washington attended this church when she was a girl. So did Richard and Henry Lee, who were the ancestors of the great Lees of Virginia. John Bushrod was a member of the vestry and Daniel McCarty, one speaker of the house of burgesses, is buried there.

Considering its age, the church Circuit Judge Fowler, of Fond du Lac, Wis., Tuesday awarded Otto B. Schulz, a prominent baker, $6,000 damages in a suit against some eighty members of the Trades and Labor Council for boycotting his business and placing his name on ousiness and placing his name on the unfair list two years ago be-cause he refused to put the union label on his products.

Push and Publicity. Push has made American men what they are to-day. It is the great American spirit condensed into a monosyllable. Hand in hand with push goes publicity as a motive power toward success. The two are so close that it is difficult to know them apart. The man of push is a champion of publicity. If he has a good thing he wishes the public to know about it. If he has goods to sell there must be push and publicity if he would convert those goods into income. What is the use of haying the goods to sell if no one knows of them? How are the buyers to be found? Push and publicity will provide the articles to be sold and the persons to buy them. Push and publicity are the antidotes of stagnation. and starvation.—Louisville Courier-Journal. Old Yeocomico Church. LOCAL LEAFLETS.

IN THE K. E. A. AND BEFORE LEG-

For more than twenty years I have been attending the State Teachers' Association, and in 1896 was president of this homosable hosty. The published proceedings and addresses show that I was active in all movements for the betterment of public schools, originating some of them. This is particularly true as to the agitation for normal schools, longer school terms, better shoothouses, modern equipment and compulsory attendance. As chairman of a Legislative Committee appointed by the Kentucky Educational Association, I pressed upon the General Assembly divers amendments looking to those ends and procured their servers of the servers

THE END NOT YET.

If nominated I shall be elected, in which event I shall devote whatever time and talent I have to the great cause in which are entered the dearest interests of the children and the Common-tendent was a shall make progress along all the lines indicated, for a brighter era has evidently dawmed. It shall be my highest and most cherished ambition to foster and develop the State's normal schools until they shall be adequate for all and good enough for the best—unsurpassed by those of any otherState. To better correlate common schools with high schools and high schools with years as to unify our entire educational system, will also be a matter for my best thought and effort.

WIRELESS" TEN YEARS OLD

Wireless telegraphy is now ten years old. On June 2, 1896, there was filed in the British patent of fice a provisional specification "for improvements in transmitting electrical impulses and signals and in apparatus therefor," by one duglichno Marconi, At the time this patent was applied for, says the Scientific American, the art of transmitting messages without wires was wholly unknown, in so far as its practice and utilization were concerned.

Marconi was perhaps the most

Marconi was perhaps the most persistent experimenter in the bridging of greater distances, while very early in the development of the new telegraphy Lodge turned his attention to the production of a selective system by means of electrical resonance. The former succeeded so well in his task that from three miles in 1897 he was embled to seat and receive signals 3,000 miles in 1904, while the latter, although he failed to evolve a commercially selective apparatus, led the way for the timing of the sending 1904, while the latter, although he failed to evolve a commercially selective apparatus, led the way for the timing of the sending and receiving circuits individually, and syntonizing them collectively.

Another important feature of recent date is the utilization of auto-detectors in connection with telephone receivers as receptors for the translation of incoming electric waves into the alphabetic code of dots and dashes.

De Forest was probably the first in the commercial field to use the auto-detector and telephone receiver, while Fessenden has conferred a lasting benefit upon science and humanity by his ingenious detector, the liquid barretter, an instrument that in its sensibility, its ruggedness and its simplicity is second only to the telehpone receiver of Bell.

With these improvements, chiefly made within the past five years, wireless telegraphy is all that the most exacting critic could hope for, if we except selectivity, and in this especial branch of the work there is yet unlimited opportunity for the wireless inventor to exercise his ingenuity.

The State College of Kentucky,

LEXINGTON, KY.

The Agricultural and Mechanical (State College) of Kentucky offers the following courses of study, viz: Agricultural, Horticultural, Chemical, Biological, Mathematical, Physical, Normal School, Classical, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Mining Engineering, each of which extends over four years and leads to a degree. Post graduate studies are also provided, leading to a master's degree. Each course of study is organized under a separate faculty. The general faculty number nearly fifty professors and instructors.

County appointees receive free tuition, room rent in the dormitories, uel and light, and if they remain ten months, traveling expenses. The laboratories and museums are large, well equipped, comprehensive and modern.

Graduates from the several courses of study readily find excellent positions and liberal remuneration. The demand is largely in excess of the ability of the College to supply. The matriculation for the last year was, including Summer school, 815.

Specialists with the necessary number of assistants have charge of each department of natural science. Summer schools are provided for pedagogy, engineering, instruction in science and in arts.

A Healing Gospel.

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist church, Belair, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: "It's a Godsend to mankind. It cured me of lame back, stiff; joints and complete physical college hours to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong I have just walked 3 miles in 50 minutes and feel like walking three more. It's made a new man of me."
